Notes for parents and carers

Counting back is an important stage of mathematical development. Cut out the triangular rocket capsule and fix it loosely over the dotted shape with a blob of sticky fixing or tape so it can be removed later. Number the stars randomly, remembering to use an open number four. The capsule can be zero. Ask your child to colour the stars, starting with 10 and in order of descent to 1. When that is done s/he can shout "Zero...we have lift off!" The capsule can then be landed on the moon!
